

THE GRACE OF RESILIENCE

When softness and resilience come together, they create an incredible strength. Resilience is not just a physical quality; it also represents inner strength.

Zhongding's Spring 2026 theme, "The Grace of Resilience," explores the balance between opposing forces. It celebrates the harmony between elegance and strength in a changing world.

This collection showcases the beauty and lasting quality of natural materials, combining softness with resilience. It strikes a balance between practicality and elegance, symbolising the strength and determination to move forward through change.

THE ART OF LIVING

Resilience in daily life is shown through our ability to adapt to change. This concept emphasises versatility, practicality, and comfort, crafted for those who juggle multiple roles. It explores the beauty of minimalist, functional clothing, designed to effortlessly blend into every aspect of life.

KNITTING STYLE

To embody the subtle symbolism of flexible strength, knitting techniques like pointelle, cable, and ladder stitches are used to express the contrast between softness and resilience, lightness and structure.

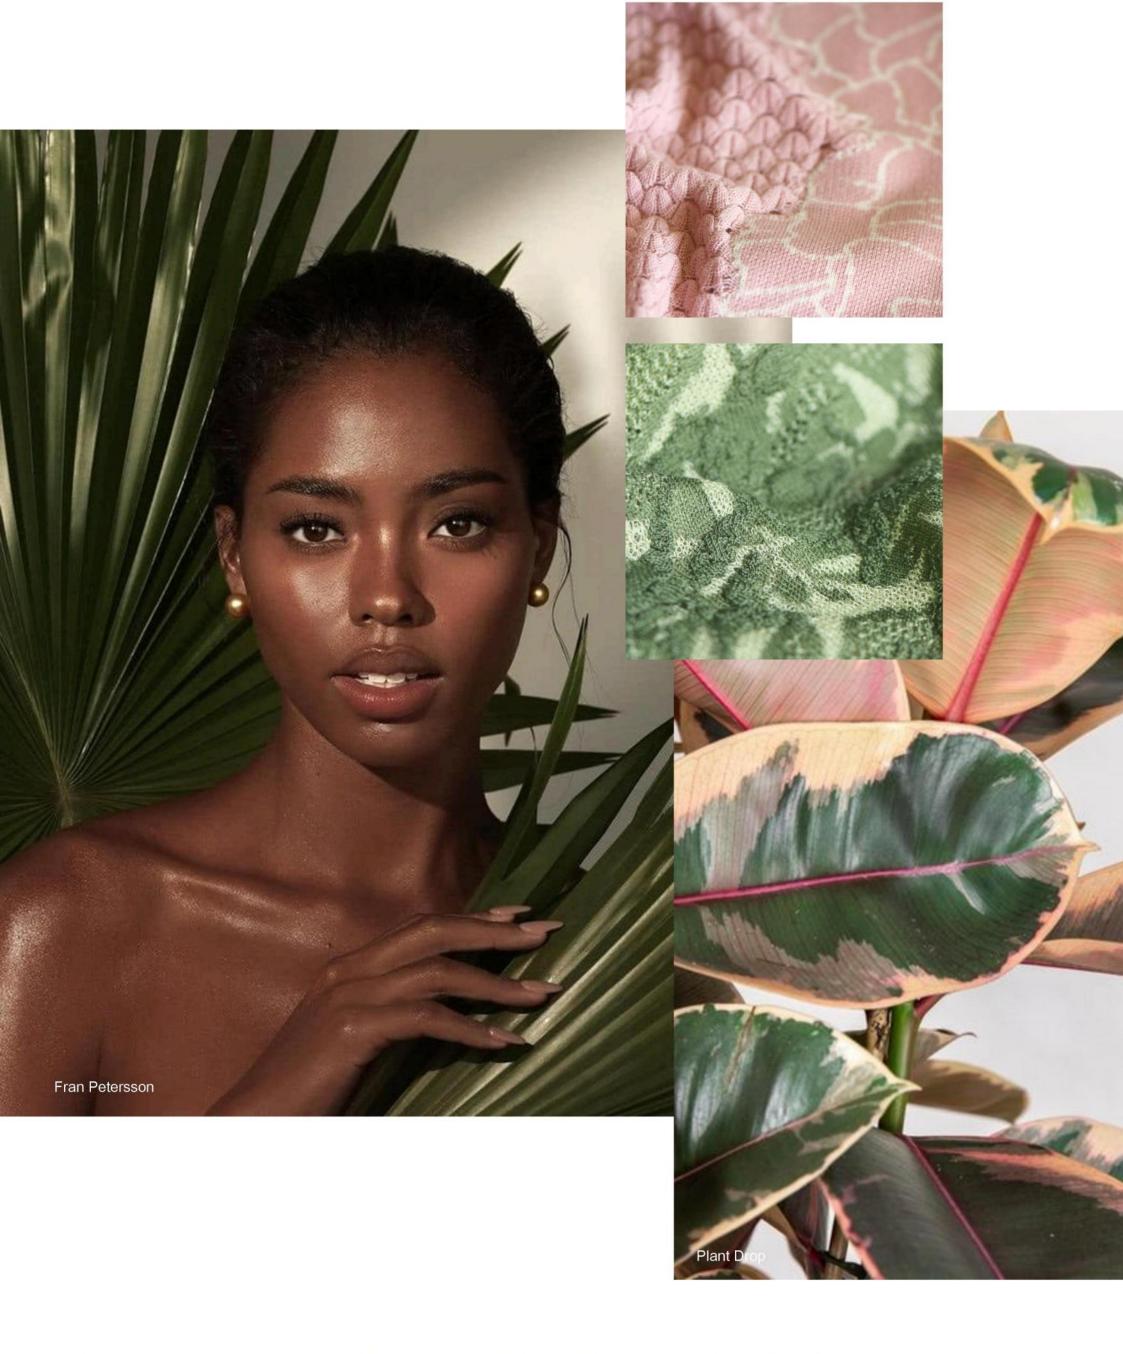

By combining pointelle, full cardigan stitch, and yarns of varying thicknesses, the knitted fabric gains depth, offering a nuanced interpretation of the multifaceted strength of "The Grace of Resilience." The contrast between soft knitted fabrics and sturdier materials further emphasizes the theme of "The Grace of Resilience."

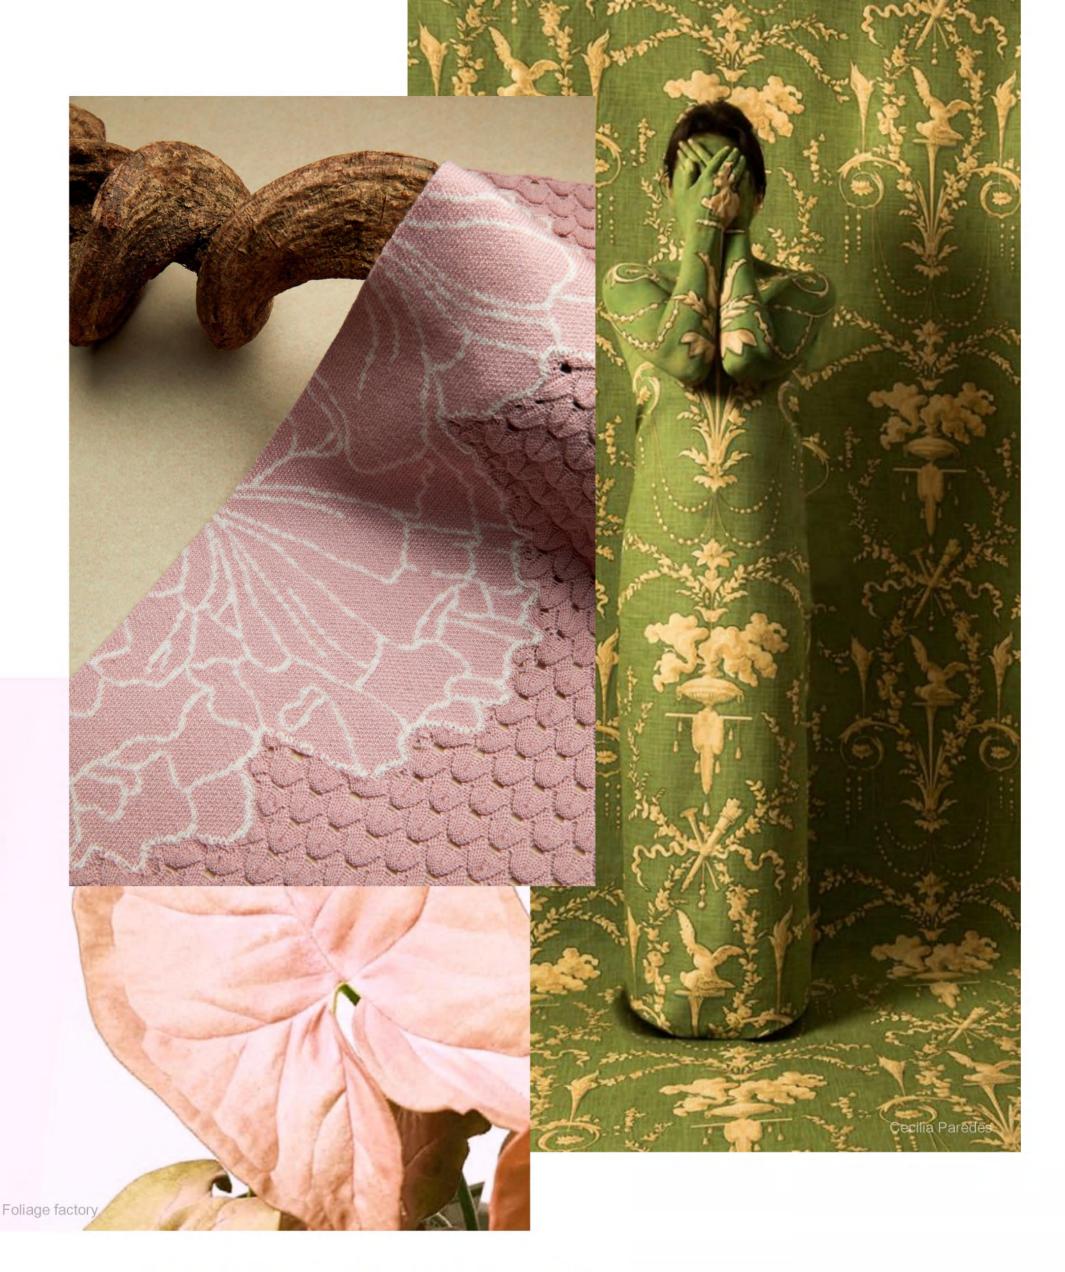

BOTANICAL RESILIENCE

Plants thrive in diverse environments, adapting to harsh conditions, with their vitality symbolising quiet resilience. This theme takes inspiration from their growth patterns, textures, and qualities, incorporating these elements into fashion design to highlight the deep connection between humans and nature.

KNITTING STYLE

Using knitting techniques such as pointelle, jersey, purl stitches, and jacquard, we transform geometric patterns inspired by plants and art into unique designs. To evoke a sense of tenderness and romance, jacquard and pointelle are employed to capture the elegance and delicacy of "The Grace of Resilience," as seen in both art and nature. By combining sequins, beading, and lace with knitted fabrics, we emphasize the feminine grace inherent in plants.

INNER STRENGTH

Resilience often arises from within—rooted in one's mental and emotional fortitude.

This direction delves into the psychological aspect of resilience, exploring garments that evoke feelings of empowerment, tranquility, and reflection.
It represents an inward journey towards emotional balance and personal strength.

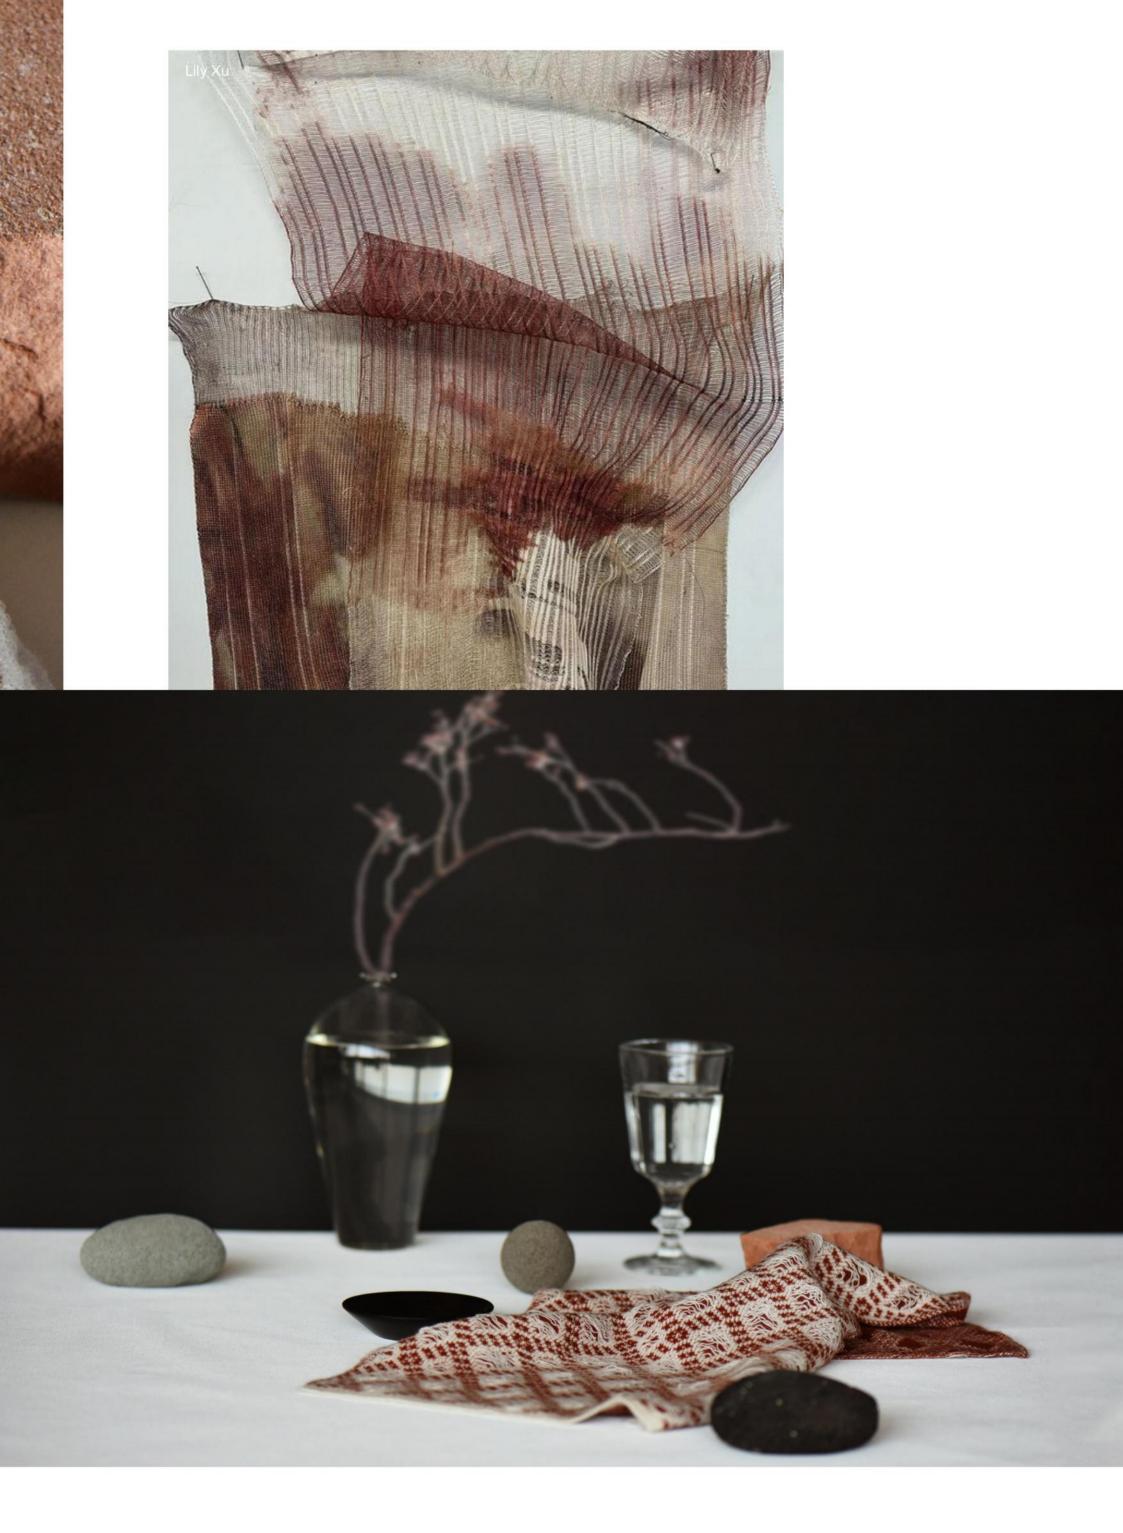

KNITTING STYLE

The interplay of transparency and texture in knitted fabrics, created through ladder stitches and the contrast between monofilament yarn and Zhongding' yarns, reflects the power of inertia in "The Grace of Resilience." Pointelle and tuck stitches evoke the delicate textures of sheer fabrics and lace, symbolizing the clarity and focus essential to resilience, while subtly enhancing its beauty.

Through ladder stitching and fabric reconstruction, we create flowing lines, fringe movement, and contrasts between thick and thin knit textures, while draping techniques convey a sense of ease and grounding.
